Clinical trials in mothers and babies health – who designs them, how do we do it, can you be involved?

Whether you have an idea for a trial and need some help or are interested to know more, please come along to our 6th annual ON TRACK Network Trial Development Workshop.

Save the date Thursday 24th & Friday 25th February 2022, Grafton, Auckland

Our two-day workshop is designed for New Zealand researchers and their teams interested in developing maternal and perinatal health multicentre clinical trials. We bring together all the experts you need to develop an idea or concept into a full trial proposal or protocol.

The fun and supportive environment of the workshop also provides the perfect opportunity for clinicians, students, junior researchers and consumers to learn and get involved. You may be interested in the topics being discussed, you may want to become involved in a particular project, or you may like to learn more about how we develop high-quality trials.

We aim to include topics for development from the recent national ON TRACK Research Prioritisation Project. More details to follow soon.

Keep an eye on our website and our newsletters for further details: ontrack.perinatalsociety.org.nz
